

WHY KELLY TOOK DOPE

He Loved Julia and Had a Hanking for Maggie.

BUT LOVED THE DRUG BEST

There Was No Truth in the Story He Told About Having Killed a Girl in Portland Some Years Ago.

BUTTE, Nov. 16.—The body of James Kelly was brought up from Anaconda yesterday afternoon and buried in the Catholic cemetery. Only a few of the more intimate friends of the dead man followed the remains to the grave.

An investigation has developed the fact that the Mrs. John C. Reitz of South Washington street, who took morphine on Saturday night last with suicidal intent and died from its effects Wednesday, was none other than Maggie King, a well known ex-concert hall singer who was a particular friend of Mary Ann Doyle. She gave up the concert hall life about a year ago and settled down to the life of a respectable married woman.

A year or two ago she and Kelly were very intimate friends, and the fact of their having taken poison so closely together has caused a good deal of comment among people who were familiar with their relations.

Kelly attempted to commit suicide here in his room over Paul Davis' saloon a little over a year ago because, he said at the time, she refused to drink with him. The attempt came very near proving successful, but Kelly finally recovered. The extent of their friendship can only be surmised, and it is an open and much disputed question as to whether or not Kelly determined to kill himself after he learned that she had taken morphine on Saturday night.

Intimate friends of Kelly in this city, men who have known him for years, ridicule the idea that he committed suicide on account of having killed a girl in Portland, as he said in Anaconda. Kelly, so his friends here say, was never in Portland in his life, and never had $1,400 at one time in his life. He was never farther east than Denver. At the time of the reported murder of his sweetheart in Portland, Kelly was in this city.

Kelly was born in California. Six years ago he became infatuated with a girl named Julia Wilson in this city and, so far as is known, that was the only girl he was ever deeply in love with. He married her, but she was subsequently divorced from him and is now married to a man in Meadville. Kelly was undoubtedly greatly in love with her and was badly broken up when she left him.

About two years ago he went to San Francisco. There he was one day thrown out of a second story window and was badly injured on the head, and ever since that time he has been unable to be as strong as before. While in California, at that time, he also contracted the morphine habit and his friends here attribute his downfall and suicide to morphine rather than to the loss of his wife. He was intimate with Maggie King for a time. His friends state that he was never in love with the girl, and that she had nothing to do with his suicide. They don't believe that he ever had anything to do with her after his attempt at suicide, a little more than a year ago.

Soon after his former attempt at suicide Kelly was committed to the Warm Springs asylum and remained there three or four months. He was released early this year and was supposed to be all right. He went to work in Anaconda but frequently manifested symptoms of insanity. His friends here have no confidence in the statements that Maggie King, Julia Wilson, the Portland girl, or any other woman, had anything to do with his suicide. They believe it was caused by the morphine habit and nothing else. Eugene Kelly, brother of the deceased, is in London at present.

MINES AND MINING.

Facts Picked Up Here and There Around the State.

Col. W. Thomas Hart has resigned his position as superintendent of the Bi-Metallic mine at Phillipsburg. President Paul A. Foss of the company came on from St. Louis and will take charge of affairs at the mine until a new superintendent is appointed.

A large force of miners and teamsters are employed at the Ontario mine near Elliott.

C. N. Freeman has made a recent discovery of some fine looking ore in the Mystery mine near Phillipsburg.

E. H. Irvine & Co., of Butte, who are working the Independence in Oro Fino district, recently completed a shipment of 100 tons of the ore to one of the Butte smelters, says the New Northwest. The ore carries some silver, but was worked only for the gold it contains. The returns show a gross yield of $18 per ton, and as this leaves a margin of profit the mine will be worked continuously. Another shipment will go forward in December and the work of developing the property will be vigorously prosecuted all winter. So far, the ore chute has shown constant improvement with depth, there being at this writing fully three feet of solid ore in the face of the workings. Does this showing continue, Irvine & Co. intend putting in a concentrator early in the spring so that the silver value as well as the gold can be saved.

Messrs. Hull & Calhoun made a shipment of ore from their property on Antelope creek this week, says the Phillipsburg Mail, which from assays of samples taken will undoubtedly net them quite a handsome return. The ore goes to the Tacoma smelters for reduction, where favorable terms are given, as the ore is just the character required for fluxing. The property is a gold one and promises to open up into a good mine as soon as sufficient development work is done on it.

Work on James Patten's Sweet Home free-milling, five-stamp mill, north of town, is advancing quite satisfactory to that gentleman. There are now seven men at work on construction, and it is their desire that they get it enclosed before the first snow comes. Most all the machinery is on the ground ready to be placed in position. In the meantime, a force of men are at work in the Sweet Home mines, getting out ore, so that as soon as the mill is completed, there will be ore ready to run through.

At the Montana.

The arrivals at the Montana yesterday were: Fred P. Baker, New York; George H. Ferguson, Rochester; James McCallum, San Francisco; G. H. Kneis, St. Paul; Ben Barnum, St. Louis; J. R. Donahoe, St. Paul; L. E. Cheney, Minneapolis; F. C. Pollett, Buffalo; Alex. Robbins, Butte; Chas. Trout, Chicago; E. L. Baldwin, New York; L. E. Throuse, Chicago; Mrs. Lays, Butte.

Rev. S. J. Hooking of New Chicago met with an accident at that place on Wednesday which will disable him for some time. He was accidentally thrown from a load of lumber, broke his arm and was otherwise bruised.

L. E. Cheney, who represents a furniture factory in Minneapolis, was in the city taking orders yesterday. He states that Montana is the best state for business in the Northwest. Trade in Minnesota and the Dakotas is very dull.

Joseph Lutherer of Carroll was arrested yesterday on a warrant for malicious mischief. Lutherer claims he had no malicious intent, but did not want to walk around the train, and uncoupled the cars which stood across his path. He gave bail and will have a hearing Monday.

A brilliant wedding was celebrated in Deer Lodge Wednesday evening, when Miss Mary Aspling and R. B. Maxwell were married in the Presbyterian church. The bride is the daughter of Charles Aspling, and has many friends and acquaintances in Anaconda. The groom is a bookkeeper for the E. L. Bonner company, and a very popular young man in social circles. Many handsome presents were bestowed upon the young folks by their friends, with good wishes for their future happiness.

The Charles Riggs Company, at Evans' Opera house, for two nights, beginning Monday, Nov. 19, the Charles Riggs company will hold the boards and will present in magnificent style "The Galley Slave" and "La Belle Marie," two very pretty and absorbingly interesting plays. The company is under the personal direction of Charles Riggs, and as he has won fame throughout America for his capabilities as a stage director, the performances will no doubt please immensely. New and novel specialties are introduced by J. D. McGrath and John A. Tullwood. The sale of seats are now open.

Rejoicing in England. The London Times warmly congratulates Englishmen on the sweeping republican victory in the United States, but it is not to be expected that the Inter-Ocean will print fac-similes of the editorial as it has occasionally done with earlier Times editorials applauding democratic tariff policy. Of course the basis of the Times rejoicing is that republican financial legislation will contribute greatly to the advantage of the English moneyed classes. This has been the policy of the republican party during its entire time in power. Its noisy fight upon English manufacturers, who wish to sell us things we want to buy, has been conducted only in order to cover up its valuable services to the British bondholder who exacts everything and gives nothing.
